InfoGin has launched version 8 of its Web to mobile content adaptation system.

The upgrade of its 'Intelligent Mobile Platform' supports all mobile browsers, languages and advanced Web page features, and is available on the most popular mobile OSs.

New features include: support for rich Web technologies on mobile; presentation and smart navigation aids; unique UI customisation for high end devices; downloading and streaming of video and audio; advanced personalisation features; and device management tool enhancements.

Eran Wyler, CEO of InfoGin, said: "With this new release, operators will be able to significantly increase uptake of mobile data services and ensure their users a premier mobile browsing experience."
